King Hedley II | Huntington Theatre Company

In the backyard of a neighborhood now completely blasted by decay and urban blight, King Hedley II, with a warrior spirit but no education or prospects, daydreams with his friend Mister about opening a Kung Fu video rental store using the money they make selling stolen refrigerators. Aunt Ester has died, the Hill District is without commercial or spiritual resources, and King's dreams are doomed to a violent end in Wilson's darkest and most symbolic play.

KING HEDLEY II - Cloudayary

Synopsis. Often thought of as the most tragic of Wilson's plays, King Hedley II is the ninth play in August Wilson's Pittsburgh Cycle. The play follows King, an ex-con who is desperately trying to make $10,000 to open a video store by stealing stolen refrigerators. We also meet his mother Ruby, his wife, Tonya, his best friend, Mister, his next door neighbor, Stool-Pigeon, and Ruby's ex-lover, Elmore.

Love, honor, revenge, blood sacrifice- these and other seminal elements flow through the inner workings of August Wilson's King Hedley II. The script is masterful, the themes course through the characters' lives and play out in full operatic-like orations. Entire passages can transport you to a sense of other-worldliness, sometimes ancient, other times intensely urban, the way no one but Wilson can achieve. Wilson's language, phrasing, and craft lift this piece to the heavens.
