Freedom is created by faith, service, character. In a sense, it can be passed, like a fine work of art, from one generation to another, but essentially it is “of the spirit”. For Vahram Y. Rejebian, the pilgrimage to freedom began somewhere around Hadjin, Turkey at a time when every external circumstance seemed to block the journey.

For the Israelites, Exodus was a pilgrimage of deliverance, ensured and enlightened by a unique God, who was anxiously concerned about their growth in freedom. For this God, freedom was their ultimate pilgrim destination in life, and so this event which took place around 1200 BC can easily be termed as the 'longest pilgrimage to freedom'.

October 2nd, 2011 Justicia for Migrant Workers (J4MW) expanded the historic 2010 “Pilgrimage to Freedom” when we walked for 12 hours from Leamington to Windsor, Ontario and took to several rural townships where migrant farm workers live and work.

~~Pilgrimage to Freedom | Sustain Ontario~~
Man is not made for the state; the state is made for man. To deprive man of freedom is to relegate him to the status of a thing, rather than elevate him to the status of a person. Man must never be treated as a means to the end of the state, but always as an end within himself.
