The contributors explore diverse contexts of performance to discuss peoples' own reflections on political subjectivities, governance and development. The volume refocuses anthropological engagement with ethics, aesthetics, and politics to examine the transformative potential of political performance, both for individuals and wider collectives.

In this groundbreaking ethnography of "fearless governance", Stavroula Pipyrou shows how Grecanici—the Greek linguistic minority of Calabria, Southern Italy—have crafted the means to invert hegemonic culture and participate in the power games of minority politics on local and national scales.

Il romanzo d'esordio di Ettore Castagna si staglia nel trapasso fra il Seicento e il Settecento, in un ambiente mediterraneo rurale e feroce. Tre generazioni che partono da una coppia di greci in fuga dalla selvaggia invasione balcanica a mano dei turchi nella seconda metà del Seicento. Il romanzo ha la cadenza di una tragedia classica ma il ritmo di un moderno thriller. Una storia da un Sud antico tra elementi fantastici, bassezze morali, mondi infimi e aperture epiche. Un eroismo sceso tra le persone qualunque e, dunque, universale. Un percorso di redenzione, non solo dei protagonisti ma persino del lettore. Qui la verità è più forte di ogni giudizio. È la verità narrativa. Assoluta e definitiva.
